Cognitive Function “Domains”

- Attention, concentration
- Language (understanding oral and written words, speaking, reading, writing)
- Episodic memory: recall of recent events
- Reasoning, decision-making
- Executive functions (planning, organization)
- Visuospatial skills (perceiving spatial relations, recognizing objects, faces, drawing, constructing designs)

Cognitive Functions: Brain Circuits

- Each system has a unique brain circuit
- Neuropsychological tests are sensitive to injury in different circuits of the brain
- Failure on a test points to damage in specific brain circuits
- “Failure” is judged on the basis of age, level of education, opportunity to learn=

Neuropsychological Test Scores Provide

- The only Objective/Quantifiable Marker Of Dementia
- Method Of Early Detection
- A Measure Of Change and Rate of Decline
- Support For Differential Diagnosis (memory vs language vs executive functions)
